Blank mortise boxes were designed to accommodate just about any type of stand alone access or push button mortise lock. With a standard side mortise preparation (1 1/16" x 6 11/16") only drilling the mounting holes is necessary on the face of the box. The boxes are wide enough for lever applications.

Understanding Gate Box Stock Numbers

How to use the gate box guide:

If you know the manufacturer and stock number of the lock or electric strike you are trying to install, use the cross reference. The cross reference uses the lock or strike manufacturers numbers and then tells you which of our weldable boxes is best for that application. Keedex.com has the most current cross reference and notes.

If you still cannot find an appropriate box, call us @ (714) 993-4300 and we will be glad to assist you!

For boxes in materials other than 14 gauge steel add a dash and the suffix for the material ex: The K-BXMOR1, in 10 gauge steel would be K-BXMOR1-10G, Aluminum would be K-BXMOR1-AL

Depth = thickness, as in thickness of a door

Our ANSI sized strike boxes were made specifically for name brand manufacturers electric strikes, however there are many obscure manufacturers of electric strikes. The Keedex ANSI electric strike boxes noted here are all 2 3/8"W x 5 1/16"H x 1 3/4"D, the difference in each box is the cut out along the face side. This chart is designed to help you match our box with your non-brand name ANSI electric strikes.
